Abstracts

Global Jellies & Gummies Market is valued at approximately USD 31.8 billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 4% over the forecast period 2022-2029. The most well-known gelatin-based candy, which originated in Germany, are jellies and gummies. Even though sugar is the primary ingredient in jelly and gummy candies, hydrocolloids are used in their production. Gummies and jellies come in a wide range of hues, sizes, and flavours and both have a soft and dry-sticky texture. The major factors driving growth for the market are rising sales of confectionery products and growing millennial generation. Moreover, rising initiatives by the product launch by the key market players are creating lucrative growth opportunities for the market over the forecast period 2022-2029.

According to Statista, the sales of chocolate and confectionery market is rising which is driving the growth for jellies and gummies, in 2016, USD 0.82 trillion and is projected to increase up to USD 1.33 trillion in 2027. The major four confectionery producers in the world— Ferrero, Mars, Nestle, and Lindt—set a five-year goal in 2017 to keep half of their products in the 200-calorie range or below. By 2022, they want to publish calories on the front of packets for 90% of their confectionery goods. Compared to manufacturers of traditional confectionery, these businesses have had significantly more growth in the low-calorie confectionery market. However, side effects associated with Jellies & Gummies stifle market growth throughout the forecast period of 2022-2029.

The key regions considered for the Global Jellies & Gummies Market study include Asia

Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World. North America dominated the space in terms of revenue, owing to the dominance of branded companies, and the market is also dominated by millennial generation. The millennial generation in the US in 2021 with 72.19 million individuals. In a lot of American households, it is regarded as a cheap and wholesome treat. Customers in the United States are interested in jellies and gummies with seasonal flavours. Along with this, due to rising consumer demand and the introduction of innovative products such as sugar-free gummies, jellies, and pick-and-mix sweets by manufacturers such as Mars, Haribo, and Cloetta, Europe is the region with the fastest growth rate.
