Abstracts

Global Mobile Wallet Market is valued approximately USD 1337.25 billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 28.20 % over the forecast period 2021-2027. Mobile wallets are used to send money by mobile devices. It is the digital version of your regular wallet in which you can store your debit and credit card details to send and receive money. It is also known as mWallet, digital wallet or E-Wallet. The factors that contribute to the growth of the market are increased use of technology in financial transactions and rise in E-commerce platforms. According to a report given by government of India, currently there are 15 E-wallets present in the Indian region out of which 14 are Indian based mobile wallets. The digital payment sector is thriving in India with a CAGR of 12.7%. However, increase in the growth has also resulted in increase in number of hackings and frauds. Lack of proper knowledge on how to use E-wallets is a major restraining factor for the industry. Improvements in security concerns and personalization according to the consumer needs are great opportunities in the coming years because the number of smartphone users will be increasing rapidly.

Regional analysis of global Mobile Wallet market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. Asia Pacific dominates the market share by owning 58% of the total market because of rise in various E-commerce platform such as Flipkart and Alibaba.
