Abstracts

Global Natural Extracts Market is valued approximately USD 9.50 billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 9.1 % over the forecast period 2021-2027. Natural Extracts are basically ingredients derived or extracted from natural sources like plants, fruits, seeds etc. Natural Extracts are removed from plant tissues and then treated with solvents in order to be used for specific purposes. The increasing awareness about the side effects of conventional products, increasing demand of organic substances and the health benefits offered by them will drive the market growth of Natural Extracts across the forecast period. The organic and gluten free nature of the health conscious people is growing a shift towards more and more use of natural extracts, as it helps them to stay fit and likely to prevent diseases.. Also, the natural extracts provides various beauty and skin care benefits, thus attracting huge attention of the young generation crowd. According to a survey by Organic Trade Association (OTA), in 2020, the sale of organic products increased from 50.1 million to 55.1 million in the period 2019-2020. According to report of Fragrance and flavour Department Center, India, the estimated production of Essential oils is $4 billion. However, the high cost and fluctuation in the availability of raw materials restraint for the growth of the market over the upcoming period of 2020-2027. But the rising R&D initiatives and increasing trends of organic lifestyle is likely to influence the market growth during the forecast period.

The regional analysis of global Natural Extracts market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. Europe is the leading region across the world in terms of market share because of the rising demand for premium quality products as well strong presence of market players in the region. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also expected to show high growth rates over the forecast period 2020-2027. Factors such as rising disposable income, changing lifestyle of people and growing awareness about organic products are growing scope to boost the Natural Extracts market across Asia-Pacific region.
