Abstracts

Global Night Cream Market is valued approximately at USD 7.54 billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 6.25% over the forecast period 2020-2027. Night creams are a type of cosmetic product containing a high concentration of moisturizing components. These are used mostly as a moisturizer, whitening agent for the skin, and anti-aging cream. The established players in the cosmetic & skin care industry and new competitors have been pushed to enter the night cream market by a dramatic growth in demand for night creams. They are attempting to reach various markets that deals with various skin-related problems, such as deep hydration, skin lightening, elasticity maintenance, even texture and soft and supple skin. Due to the growth seen in internet delivery networks, the ease of calculating the quality of goods available in supermarkets and specialty stores and the increasing worries regarding damaged skin and ageing, several opportunities are created. Increased levels of emissions across urban areas have increased skin-related problems dramatically. This has severely impacted working communities suffering numerous skin-related issues such as dullness, acne rosacea, tanning, among others. Consumers are searching for more improved and skin-friendly beauty products to solve these concerns and can be seen as an important solution to conventional all-purpose cosmetics. Thanks to their superior qualities, such as super moisturizing, skin whitening, and anti-aging advantages, consumers are more drawn towards night creams. The online distribution of non-grocery products has risen by 12.5 percent, according to a Financial Times survey, leading to about 24.1 percent of overall revenue. Owing to a vast number of buyers ordering the goods through mail order platforms and online distribution channels, the cosmetic industry has been heavily impacted by counterfeit activities. Moreover, the lack of brand loyalty by customers buying night creams and other cosmetic items is also responsible for the reduced market penetration. Innovative strategies such as new product launches with natural ingredients, regular cosmetic products, and appealing packaging, have been adopted by the manufacturing companies to boost the sales of their cosmetic products. For instance, in November 2018, Amway launched new products in day cream, night cream, and face wash segment targeting around INR 50 billion in sales by 2025.

The regional analysis of global Night Cream Market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World. The demand for night creams in Asia Pacific is growing increasingly due to growing issues amongst people with skin problems and rising awareness of skin care and beauty products. In addition, regional demand growth is projected as a result of steps taken by major manufacturers to introduce new products in the category.
