Abstracts

Global Pet Skin & Coat Care Products Market is valued at approximately USD 4.13 billion in 2022 and is anticipated to grow with a CAGR growth rate of more than 9.80% over the forecast period 2023-2030. Pet skin and coat care products are specially formulated to maintain the health and appearance of a pet's skin and fur. The market includes shampoos, conditioners, detanglers, brushes, wipes, supplements, and topical treatments. These products clean, moisturize, detangle, and protect the skin and coat, promoting a healthy and shiny appearance. Regular use of these products, along with a balanced diet and proper grooming, helps keep pets looking their best and contributes to their overall well-being. Moreover, rising household disposable income and growing rapid urbanization are anticipated to be the growth driver of this market. Furthermore, growing pet parenting and rising initiatives of companies is creating lucrative growth opportunity for the market over the forecast period 2023-2030.

According to Statista in 2021, the United States achieved the highest gross adjusted per capita household disposable income among Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) nations, reaching approximately USD 62,335. Luxembourg secured the second position with around USD 51,465, while Australia closely followed in third place. According to United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) in 2022, the world is witnessing an unprecedented increase in urbanization. Over half of the global population already lives in urban areas, and this number is expected to reach around 5 billion by 2030. Africa and Asia is experience the largest urbanization growth, resulting in significant social, economic, and environmental changes. Rural population growth has halted since 2016, and it is estimated that 1.5 billion people may become urban residents by 2050, with an additional 3 billion expected by that year. However, limited awareness & education and changing consumer preferences may hamper the growth of the market over the forecast period 2023-2030.

The key regions considered for the Global Pet Skin & Coat Care Products Market study includes Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Middle East & Africa. North America region emerged as the dominant region in the market. This can be attributed to the increasing number of pet owners in the region. According to Pet Pedia, in 2022 around 70% of households in the United States own at least one pet. Dogs are the most popular choice, with over 48 million households having them, while cats come in second with nearly 31 million owners. The strong pet industry, the trend of premiumization, and rising disposable income further contribute to the demand for pet skin and coat care products in North America. Asia Pacific is the fastest growing region in the pet skin and coat care products market due to increasing pet ownership, growing awareness of pet grooming, rising affluence and premiumization, urbanization, and the influence of Western pet care trends. The region's demand for high-quality grooming products has surged as more people prioritize their pets' health and well-being.
