Abstracts

Global Rigid Bulk Packaging Market is valued approximately at USD XX billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 4.9% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Rigid plastic is described as a material that does not flex elastically and has complete plastic deformation. Cups, bottles, closures, pots, and cans are forms of rigid plastic packaging. Durability, cost, lifespan, flavour absorption, and lightweight are all advantages of rigid plastic packaging. It may be used in a variety of industries, including food and beverage, medicines, personal care, and many more. Bioplastics, Polyethylene, Polyethylene Terephthalate, Polystyrene, and others are some of the raw ingredients utilized in packaging. The packaging industry in India has seen significant changes over the years, and it has grown to become one of the country's most important industries. The packaging industry in India is increasing at a rate of 22% to 25% each year, according to the Packaging Industry Association of India (PIAI). For a long time, the Fast-Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG), food processing, and pharmaceutical industries have been major contributors to the expansion of the packaging industry in the nation. In recent years, e-commerce has emerged as a new user that has aided the expansion of the Indian packaging industry. However, fierce competition from flexible plastic packaging, may impede market growth over the forecast period of 2021-2027.

North America, Europe, Asia Pacific, Central and South America, and the Middle East and Africa comprise the market. The Asia Pacific region is expected to dominate the rigid bulk packaging market over the forecast period, owing to several factors such as the presence of several emerging economies in the region, as well as growing manufacturing and construction industries, which are expected to increase demand for various chemical products, propelling the demand for rigid bulk packaging.
