Abstracts

Global Silicone rubber sheet Market is valued approximately at USD XX billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX % over the forecast period 2020-2027. Silicone rubber sheet is an inorganic synthetic elastomer made of a cross-linked polymer based on silicone. Silicone has the characteristic to remain rubbery and elastic, making the product highly valued in many markets. These products come in a variety of design specifications based on application-based structural properties, chemical contact and industrial use. Rising demand for high temperature silicon elastomers and its growing adoption in numerous applications like flooring and roofing and rubber offers good resistance to substances such as oil, ultraviolet light, oxidizing elements etc. are the key driving factors of the market. According to Statista, the global silicone sealant market volume is expected to reach around 820,000 metric tons by 2023. Due to its physicochemical properties, silicone sealants are widely used in the construction, packaging, and automotive industries. Fluctuation in raw materials prices is the restraining factor in this market. Recent strategic developments by key players have had a positive influence on the market dynamics of silicone rubber sheets. For example, in October 2019, Wacker Chemie AG invested about USD 150 million in a new facility in the US and launched the production of pyrogenic silica, that is an important formulating component for silicone rubber manufacturing. The facility has a generating capacity of 13,000 metric tons annually

The regional analysis of global Silicone rubber sheet market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading/significant region across the world in terms of market share owing to the adoption in numerous applications like flooring and roofing. Over the past few years, developing countries such as India, China, Brazil and South Africa have witnessed promising growth in major end-user industries. This, in turn, is likely to fuel demand in the next few years for conductive silicone rubber. Increasing demand for lightweight and high-end automobiles is forecast to boost the silicone rubber market in the coming years.
