Abstracts

Global Sleep Apnea Oral Appliances Market is valued at approximately USD 0.26 billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 1.5% over the forecast period 2022-2029. When a person has sleep apnea, their breathing stops for at least 10 seconds, disrupting and irregularly regulating their breathing patterns. The condition causes the blood that circulates in the body to have less oxygen saturation. Devices for treating and diagnosing sleep apnea are typically used to treat central sleep apnea syndrome, complicated sleep apnea syndrome, and obstructive sleep apnea syndrome. The Sleep Apnea Oral Appliances market is expanding because of factors such as large pool of undiagnosed sleep apnea patients, growing awareness of the effects of untreated sleep apnea, and growing usage of oral appliances. Furthermore, growing demand for home sleep apnea tests and increasing focus on telemedicine, mHealth, and AI may create a lucrative opportunity and fuel the market growth.

According to the World Health Organization, every year 9% of adults over 40 years old experience central sleep apnea (CSA). Further, According to National Institutes of Health estimates, 30% of the general population experiences sleep disturbances, and 10% of those individuals also experience daytime functional impairment that is compatible with the diagnosis of insomnia.. Furthermore, geriatric population is also rising the adoption of sleep apnea oral appliances. However, the high cost of Sleep

Apnea Oral Appliances stifles market growth throughout the forecast period of 2022-2029.
