Abstracts

Global Smokeless Tobacco Market is valued at approximately USD XX million in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 4.9% over the forecast period 2022-2028. Tobacco products that are not burned or lighted up like cigarettes are known as smokeless tobacco. The substance is consumed orally or nasally, and it is available in a variety of forms and varieties on the market. Chewing, sniffing, or even putting the tobacco between one's gums and teeth are the ways most smokeless tobacco products are used. The market growth is driven by key factors such as high demand among younger age groups and increasing number of bans on cigarettes in different countries. For example, according to Statista, in the Western Pacific region, the number of smokers is predicted to rise from 360 million in 2000 to 408 million in 2025. In addition, warning label initiatives impacted 48 percent of the worldwide population in 2016. By 2020, there will have been a 12-percentage point increase. Furthermore, the rise in product launches across the globe will boost the market growth of smokeless tobacco. For instance, with an expenditure of roughly USD 917.43 million, Japan Tobacco Inc. debuted a new smokeless product category as an alternative to cigarettes in February 2018. The surge in premium and appealing packaging items in the industry has also contributed to the market's growth. However, growing consequences of health hazards impede the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2022-2028.

The key regions considered for the global Smokeless Tobacco Market study include Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World. North America is leading the market growth owing to the rise in demand for snuff products in the U.S. However, APAC is expected to be the fastest growing region due to rising sales of low cost chewing tobacco products in countries such as India, Pakistan and Bangladesh.
