Abstracts

Global Spray Adhesives Market is valued approximately at USD 3.12 Billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 4.6% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Spray adhesive is a glue used for bonding wood, metal, acrylic, foam, fabric, cardboard, leather, corkboard, glass, foil, rubber, and many plastics. Increasing penetration of spray adhesives in the end use industries such as furniture and construction is a driving factor for the market. New construction increases the demand for housing and office furniture which further propels the market demand. The increase in the commercial use of aircrafts will increase the demand of aircraft in the coming years will also support the market for spray adhesives because these adhesives are majorly required in the interior trim of application of aircrafts. But high content of Volatile Organic Compounds (VOC) present in the adhesives is restraining the market. The government has set regulations on the VOC content to curb air pollution. The use of VOC containing products release VOCs in the atmosphere causing air pollution and smog. Increasing need for adhesives with low Volatile Organic Compounds (VOC) and eco-friendly products will give opportunities to the market in the forecasted period. The rising popularity of solvent-based adhesive along with the increasing adoption of spray adhesives in the construction industry is expected to give more opportunities to the market in the coming years.

The key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World are considered for the regional analysis of global Spray Adhesives market. North America is the leader in the market reason being increasing disposable income of the people and increasing urbanization in the region. Asia Pacific is expected to dominate the market in the forecasted period owing to China which is the largest and fastest growing economy in the region because of the presence of many manufacturing sector in the country.
