Abstracts

Global Tahini Market is valued approximately USD XX billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX % over the forecast period 2022-2028. Tahini is made of three ingredients hulled (sesame seeds from which the outer covering has been removed) sesame seeds, oil and salt. Sesame seeds, which is the primary component of tahini, are known for their heart-healthy benefits. Specifically, they can help lower cholesterol and high blood pressure and maintains heart health. Growing demand for plant-based food products and rising popularity of Eastern Mediterranean cuisines in developed markets like US, Canada and Europe are key drivers for the growth of Tahini market. For instance, according to Plant Based Food Association (PFBA) and Good Food Institute (GFI)- in the year 2020 the retail market for plant-based foods in US is estimated at USD 7 billion, witnessing an increase of USD 1.5 billion from the year 2019 (approx. USD 5.5 billion in 2019). Furthermore, in June 2021 Soom Foods, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, US based tahini brand, has launched its brand-new Dark Chocolate Sea Salt Sweet Tahini. Also, with the increasing application of sesame seed-based tahini in food products and rising disposable income and rapid urbanization, the adoption & demand for Tahini is likely to increase the market growth during the forecast period. However, high cost of tahini-based products and slow penetration from emerging economies impedes the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2022-2028.

The key regions considered for the global Tahini market study includes Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World. North America is the leading region across the world in terms of market share owing to growing demand for plant-based food products in the region. Whereas Middle East and Africa is anticipated to exhibit highest growth rate over the forecast period 2022-2028. Factors such as wide availability of raw material and presence of regional market players in the region would create lucrative growth prospects for the Tahini market across Asia-Pacific region.
