Abstracts

Global Terbutryn Market is valued approximately XXX billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XXX over the forecast period 2021-2027. Terbutryn is a triazine chemical that works as a selective herbicide. It is engulfed by the leaves and roots and functions as a photosynthesis inhibitor. Terbutryn is a pre-emergent and post-emergent weed control product used in winter barley, winter wheat, sugarcane, sorghum, peas, sunflowers, and potatoes. The rise in acceptance of improved agricultural methods throughout the world is likely to support the growth of the terbutryn market during the forecast period. The increased production of cereals and grains in a number of nations is expected to drive the terbutryn market forward. The growing global demand for food and increased knowledge of the benefits of using herbicides pre- and post-cultivation of crops are expected to fuel the terbutryn market's expansion. In May 2017, Kellogg's Company reduced to sugar content in Rice Krispies and Frosties bars by 19%, ranging from 40 grams to 32.5 grams which helped them in the expansion of cereal industry. However, strict approval procedures impede the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2021-2027. Also, expansion of agricultural industry in developing countries and the advancement of novel formulations is likely to increase the market growth during the forecast period.

The regional analysis of global Terbutryn Market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading region across the world in terms of market share owing to rise in the awareness about organic products. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit highest growth rate over the forecast period 2021-2027. Factors such as growing awareness related to the harmful effects of weeds on crop growth would create lucrative growth prospects for the Terbutryn Market across Asia-Pacific region.
