Abstracts

Global Trade Loan Services Market is valued at approximately USD XX billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX% over the forecast period 2022-2029. Trade Loan Services refer to short-term borrowing facilities offered by banks and credit unions to entities involved in trading activities. The borrowers involve individuals involved in trading business such as importers, exporters, and domestic traders among others. Trade loans are utilized for funding trade activities and enable the borrower entity to improve its cash flows. The increasing unmet financing needs of SMEs and favorable initiatives from government authorities as well as strategic initiatives from leading market players are key factors accelerating the growth of the market.

The rising growth of unmet financial needs of SMEs specially in developing countries is contributing to the growth of the Global Trade Loan Services Market. For instance, as per SME Finance Forum estimates – as of 2020, globally around 131 million or 41% of formal MSMEs in developing regions have unmet financing needs. Moreover, the MSME financing gap in developing countries is estimated at USD 5 trillion, more than 1.3 times the current level of MSME lending. Additionally, women owned MSMEs account for 32% of the MSME finance gap. Also, growing emergence of SaaS based loan services and rising growth in cross border trade in post covid era would create lucrative growth prospects for the market over the forecast period. However, lack of transparency in lending services and high interest rates associated with Trade loans stifles market growth throughout the forecast period of 2022-2029.

The key regions considered for the Global Trade Loan Services Market study include Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World. North America is the leading region in terms of market share owing to presence of global banks and credit unions and increasing digitization in lending services in the region. Whereas Asia Pacific is expected to grow significantly during the forecast period, owing to factors such as rising penetration of private banking players and FinTech platforms coupled with growing cross border trade in the region.
