Report Overview

Alectinib hydrochloride is a potent, selective, and orally bioavailable small molecule inhibitor of the anaplastic lymphoma kinase (ALK) enzyme. It is specifically designed to target and inhibit the activity of ALK, a protein that is often abnormally activated in certain types of non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC). This abnormal activation can lead to uncontrolled cell growth and tumor formation. Alectinib hydrochloride works by binding to the ALK enzyme, thereby blocking its activity and preventing the downstream signaling that promotes cancer cell survival and proliferation. As a result, alectinib hydrochloride helps to slow down or stop the growth of cancer cells that depend on ALK for their survival, making it a valuable therapeutic option for patients with ALK-positive NSCLC.
