A Baby Diaper Pad is a protective and absorbent accessory designed specifically for use with baby diapers. It is typically made from soft, moisture-wicking materials such as cotton or polyester, ensuring comfort for the baby while effectively absorbing any leaks or excess moisture. The primary purpose of a diaper pad is to provide an additional layer of protection for the baby's clothing, bedding, or car seats, preventing stains and maintaining hygiene. Some diaper pads also feature waterproof backing to further enhance their protective capabilities. They are commonly used during diaper changes, outings, or overnight to safeguard against leaks and provide a barrier between the baby's skin and the diaper.
