Report Overview

Bottled Perm Lotion is a hair care product specifically designed to provide a long-lasting and effective solution for achieving a permanent wave or curl pattern in hair. This product is typically formulated with a blend of chemicals, including ammonium thioglycolate and other alkaline agents, which break down the hair's protein structure to facilitate the reshaping process. The lotion is applied to the hair in a controlled manner, allowing for precise manipulation of the hair shaft. After the desired curl pattern is achieved, a neutralizer is applied to re-stabilize the hair's protein bonds, locking in the new shape. Bottled Perm Lotion is often used in salon settings by professional stylists and can also be purchased for at-home use, although it requires careful application and timing to avoid damage to the hair.

In 2024, the global Bottled Perm Lotion market is projected to reach approximately USD xx Million, with expectations to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of around xx between 2024 and 2033.
