This product is typically used in salons by professional hair stylists and is meant to be applied at room temperature, hence the term "cold" in its name. The liquid contains active ingredients such as ammonium thioglycolate and other chemicals that break the hair's disulfide bonds, allowing the hair to be reshaped and then reformed into the desired style. Cold Perm Liquid is part of a multi-step process that often includes the use of a developer solution to set the curl, and a neutralizer to restore the hair's pH balance and lock in the new shape.
