Report Overview

Cold-pressed linseed oil is a type of vegetable oil derived from the seeds of the flax plant (Linum usitatissimum). It is extracted through a mechanical pressing process without the use of heat or chemical solvents, which helps preserve its natural properties. This oil is rich in omega-3 fatty acids, particularly alpha-linolenic acid (ALA), and is known for its health benefits, including its potential to support heart health and reduce inflammation. Cold-pressed linseed oil is also valued for its use in various applications, such as in the production of linoleum, as a drying agent in paints, and as a nutritional supplement.
