Abstracts

Affiliate marketing is the process by which an affiliate earns a commission for marketing another person’s or company’s products. The affiliate simply searches for a product they enjoy, then promotes that product and earns a piece of the profit from each sale they make. The sales are tracked via affiliate links from one website to another. Affiliate marketing is a performance-based marketing channel in which a publisher (also known as an affiliate) is awarded for sales they generate for an advertiser. Publishers promote a product or service through their digital networks, such as their website or social media account, for their audience.Amazon, Alibaba and eBay are the top 3 companies in affiliate marketing software market and account for over half of global market share. Geographically speaking, North America holds about 40% of total market share. In terms of type, by cost per sale segment holds over 70% of total market share. In terms of product, physical products segment accounts for over 80% of total market share.The development of marketing technology has provided more possibilities and convenience for affiliate marketing. For example, the emergence of SaaS software providers has provided merchants with more efficient affiliate marketing management tools and technical solutions. With the intensification of market competition and the diversification of consumer demand, companies are increasingly in need of finding low-cost, high-efficiency marketing methods. Affiliate marketing has become the first choice for many companies with its unique advantages.The alliance marketing ecosystem continues to expand, and the number of service providers including platforms, software providers, agents and various organizations continues to increase. At the same time, alliance channels also show diversified characteristics, including social media celebrities, brand ambassadors, news media, blog sites, etc. With the acceleration of digital transformation, companies are paying more and more attention to improving marketing effectiveness through digital means. As an efficient digital marketing method, affiliate marketing will be favored by more companies.
