Report Overview

Antiperspirant and deodorant are substance applied to the body to prevent or mask (hide) body odor due to bacterial breakdown of perspiration in the armpits, groin, and feet, and in some cases vaginal secretions. A subclass of deodorants, called antiperspirants, prevents sweating itself, typically by blocking sweat glands. Antiperspirants are used on a wider range of body parts, at any place where sweat would be inconvenient or unsafe, since unwanted sweating can interfere with comfort, vision, and grip (due to slipping). Other types of deodorant allow sweating but prevent bacterial action on sweat, since human sweat only has a noticeable smell when it is decomposed by bacteria. It can stop perspiration and mask the smell to stop the growth of bacteria.

The global Antiperspirant And Deodorant market size was estimated at USD 23450.8 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.15% during the forecast period.
