Abstracts

Aromatherapy candles are candles that are infused with essential oils to emit soothing and therapeutic scents when burned. These candles are specifically designed to create a sense of relaxation and well-being through the use of aromas. The essential oils used in aromatherapy candles are derived from various plant sources and are believed to have positive effects on the mind and body. When the candle is lit, the heat causes the essential oils to evaporate and release their fragrance into the air, allowing individuals to enjoy the benefits of aromatherapy.
