Abstracts

Biodegradable Collagen Membrane is a natural, resorbable barrier material made from purified collagen, often derived from animal sources like bovine or porcine. It is designed to degrade naturally within the body over time, eliminating the need for surgical removal. These membranes are primarily used in medical and dental applications, such as guided tissue regeneration (GTR) and guided bone regeneration (GBR), to support wound healing and tissue regeneration by acting as a barrier against soft tissue intrusion. With high biocompatibility, controlled biodegradation rates, and the ability to promote cellular adhesion, biodegradable collagen membranes are widely utilized in periodontal treatments, implantology, and other regenerative procedures.

The global Biodegradable Collagen Membrane market size was estimated at USD 268.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.40% during the forecast period.
