Abstracts

Business card management refers to the process of collecting, organizing, storing, and using business cards to effectively manage contact information and business relationships. Business cards contain crucial contact details of individuals and companies, such as names, job titles, company names, phone numbers, email addresses, and more. Managing business cards properly allows for the convenient storage and quick retrieval of this information when needed. By managing business cards, you can categorize and track contacts, facilitating better communication and relationship building with customers, partners, and colleagues. With the increasing frequency of economic activities and the acceleration of digitalization, individual users hope to conveniently store, manage and share social networks through business card management, and quickly retrieve contact information in business and life. Enterprises use business card management as an important means of customer relationship management and employee network expansion to improve work efficiency and reduce communication costs. Technologies such as big data, cloud computing, and artificial intelligence are deeply integrated with business card management services. For example, artificial intelligence is used to realize intelligent recognition, classification, and accurate network recommendation of business card information, which improves management efficiency and user experience.

The global Business Card Management market size was estimated at USD 463.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.30% during the forecast period.
