Abstracts

Capital Markets Service (CMS) refers to a comprehensive range of specialized financial services provided to governments, businesses, and financial institutions in the process of long-term financing and securitized asset transactions. Its core focus is connecting capital demanders with investors and optimizing capital allocation. This service system encompasses financing advisory, securities issuance, and underwriting in the primary market, as well as brokerage, market making, and investment research services in the secondary market. It also includes financial infrastructure such as central securities depositories, clearing, and settlement, supporting efficient and secure market operations. Furthermore, in-depth services such as asset management, M&A advisory, asset securitization, and complex derivatives design and trading are key components. Key participants include professional institutions such as investment banks, securities firms, stock exchanges, custodian banks, and asset management companies. Essentially, CMS services not only provide a vital direct financing channel for business development and government projects, but also create diverse investment tools and wealth management opportunities for investors. They are the core engine of the modern financial system driving real economic growth and innovation.

The global Capital Markets Service market size was estimated at USD 59650.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.40% during the forecast period.

This report offers a comprehensive and in-depth analysis of the global Capital Markets Service market, covering all critical facets from a broad macroeconomic overview to detailed micro-level insights. It examines market size, competitive landscape, emerging development trends, niche segments, key drivers and challenges, as well as conducts SWOT and value chain analyses.
