Abstracts

Clove leaf essential oil is a steam-distilled volatile extract derived from the leaves of the clove tree (Syzygium aromaticum), valued for its high eugenol content, which imparts potent antimicrobial, analgesic, and anti-inflammatory properties. It is widely used across multiple industries, including aromatherapy for stress relief and respiratory support, natural medicine as an antiseptic and pain reliever, personal care in oral hygiene products like toothpaste and mouthwash, and household cleaning formulations due to its disinfecting qualities. The oil is distinct from clove bud oil, which is often more expensive and has a slightly different chemical profile, making the leaf variant a cost-effective alternative for industrial and therapeutic applications where high eugenol concentration is prioritized.

The global Clove Leaf Essential Oil market size was estimated at USD 18.5 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.80% during the forecast period.
