The credit-based, deposit-free leasing service is a leasing model based on user credit assessment. The lessor assesses the lessee's credit status through a third-party credit reporting platform or its own credit system. If the credit reaches a certain standard, the deposit will be waived, thereby lowering the user's leasing threshold and improving the efficiency of capital use. At the same time, it helps leasing companies attract more customers and shorten transaction cycles. It is widely used in leasing fields such as houses, cars, home appliances, and equipment.
