Report Overview

Decorative or architectural Paints are the paints and finishes that are used on residential and commercial buildings. They are basically employed to decorate rooms by adding colors and make them look fresh and attractive. They also serve as protecting agents from UV radiation, bacteria, corrosion, and moisture.

Asia Pacific occupies a substantial share in global decorative paints & coatings market due to the presence of numerous developing countries such as China, India, Vietnam and Bangladesh, which have been investing largely in construction sector. Despite funding gaps in Indonesia, Vietnam and Philippines the nonresidential construction industry is expected to grow at a faster pace owing to the government projects such as sea ports, transport and power. Asia Pacific is followed by the Americas, wherein Brazil, Argentina and Mexico drive the demand for decorative paints & coatings in both the residential and the commercial housing sectors.
