Abstracts

Disposable nursing pads are absorbent, single-use inserts designed to be worn inside a bra to absorb breast milk leakage, protect clothing from stains, and maintain hygiene and comfort for breastfeeding individuals. These products typically consist of layers of super-absorbent materials, such as cellulose or polymer gels, enclosed in a soft, non-woven fabric cover, and are shaped to fit comfortably against the breast. They often include adhesive strips to secure them in place and a waterproof backing to prevent leaks. Disposable nursing pads are distinguished from reusable alternatives by their convenience and hygienic disposal after use, making them particularly suitable for on-the-go use, travel, or situations where washing reusable pads is impractical.

The global Disposable Nursing Pads market size was estimated at USD 645.8 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.75% during the forecast period.
