Report Overview

A DJ controller is an all-in-one piece of DJ hardware that combines all of the traditional elements of vinyl decks and a mixer gelling them into one unit. Often, but not in the case of standalone controllers, they work in unison with a laptop. This gives the modern-day DJ access to a multitude of digital DJ tools and features that never would have been possible with a traditional DJ setup. A DJ controller is basically a device that DJs use to mix music. It allows them to control DJ software by essentially functioning as a microprocessor. Music mixing software can be hard to control through traditional computer keyboards and touchpads. These controllers are tailor-made for use on specific DJ software. It makes the lives of DJs easy by eliminating the need for a mouse and keyboard.
