Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Emamectin Benzoate TC competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. Emamectin Benzoate TC is a highly effective and broad-spectrum macrocyclic lactone insecticide, with the active ingredient being emamectin benzoate, a derivative of avermectin. It acts by enhancing the inhibitory effect of gamma-aminobutyric acid (GABA) in the nervous system of pests, leading to rapid paralysis, cessation of feeding, and eventual death. Its primary targets include Lepidoptera (e.g., cotton bollworm, diamondback moth), Coleoptera (e.g., Colorado potato beetle), and certain mite species, making it widely applicable in agriculture, forestry, and horticulture. Due to its potent bioactivity, extremely low dosages (typically 0.5-2 grams per mu) can achieve effective pest control, while maintaining relatively low mammalian toxicity, thus playing a key role in Integrated Pest Management (IPM) systems. Emamectin Benzoate TC is usually supplied as a high-purity (?90%) solid or crystalline material, requiring further formulation into emulsifiable concentrates (EC), water-dispersible granules (WG), or suspension concentrates (SC) for field application.

The global Emamectin Benzoate TC market size was estimated at USD 1445.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.20% during the forecast period.
