Report Overview

Tile Backer Board, also known as cement backer board or hardboard, is a high-density fiberboard specifically designed for use in tile installation projects. It is engineered to provide a stable, moisture-resistant substrate for tiles, particularly in areas prone to moisture, such as bathrooms, kitchens, and exterior walls. The product is composed of a dense core made from wood fibers, which is then coated with a layer of cement on one or both sides. This cement layer not only adds strength and durability but also acts as a moisture barrier, preventing water from seeping through to the underlying structure. Tile Backer Board is typically used over studs or joists, providing a solid base for the adhesive to bond the tiles securely. It is an essential component in construction projects where waterproofing and structural integrity are crucial, ensuring a long-lasting and professional finish for tiled surfaces.
