Abstracts

Lens cleaning spray can reduce the adhesion of stains to the lens surface, making it easier to remove stains such as dust and oil. For example, non-ionic surfactants and anionic surfactants are common in many lens cleaning sprays. Usually contain alcohols or water. Alcohols such as isopropyl alcohol have good solubility and can quickly dissolve grease, fingerprints and other dirt on the lens surface. They also evaporate quickly and can reduce the residual liquid after cleaning. Water is also a common solvent component, but the cleaning effect of water alone is limited, and it is generally used in combination with other ingredients.

The global Lens Cleaning Spray market size was estimated at USD 159.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.80% during the forecast period.
