Report Overview

A liqueur is an alcoholic beverage made by addition of flavors, cream, spices and herbs to distilled spirits, bottled together with added sugar or other sweetening agents.

Liqueurs have wide application and are used to mix drinks, served neat, with coffee or mixed with other non-alcoholic beverages and dairy such as cream and milk.

Furthermore, these specialty spirits are used in baking and some of the liqueurs are now used as an important ingredient in many desserts.

Vodka and rum-based drinks are in popularity, and brands such as Vermouth and Benedictine are gaining significant attention from consumers across the globe.

Bosson Research's latest report provides a deep insight into the global Liqueurs and Specialty Spirits market, covering all its essential aspects. This ranges from a macro overview of the market to micro details of the market size, competitive landscape, development trend, niche market, key market drivers and challenges, SWOT analysis, Porter's five forces analysis, value chain analysis, etc.
