Abstracts

Magnesium Powder Bag is a commonly used auxiliary equipment in rock climbing, gymnastics, weightlifting and other sports. It is mainly used to absorb sweat from the hands and increase the friction between the palms and equipment or rock walls. The bag is filled with magnesium powder (magnesium carbonate). By patting or grabbing the bag, the magnesium powder will be evenly attached to the palm, preventing the hand from slipping and improving the grip. Magnesium powder bags are usually made of cloth with good breathability. The bag opening is designed with an elastic band or drawstring, which is easy to fix on the waist or equipment and convenient to use at any time.
