Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Monocle competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. A monocle is a single, circular lens designed to be worn over one eye for vision correction or magnification. Unlike traditional eyeglasses that cover both eyes, a monocle is held in place by the muscles around the eye socket or by attaching it to a chain or string to prevent loss. Monocles were particularly popular in the 19th and early 20th centuries among affluent men and are still used today as a fashion statement or for theatrical purposes.

The global Monocle market size was estimated at USD 72.2 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 1.80% during the forecast period.
