Abstracts

The motorhome rental platform market refers to the digital ecosystem facilitating the short-term rental of recreational vehicles (RVs) such as campervans, travel trailers, and motorhomes, connecting private or commercial vehicle owners with renters through online interfaces that handle booking, payment processing, insurance, and often supplementary services like roadside assistance or trip planning tools. This market operates as a two-sided marketplace, leveraging technology to streamline access to a traditionally fragmented and asset-heavy industry, enabling peer-to-peer (P2P) or business-to-consumer (B2C) transactions while catering to the growing consumer demand for flexible, experiential, and socially distanced travel options. Key players in this space range from specialized platforms like Outdoorsy and RVshare to broader travel and rental marketplaces expanding into the RV segment, with the market's scope encompassing not only the rental transaction itself but also ancillary revenue streams such as insurance premiums, service fees, and partnerships with campgrounds or travel experience providers.

The global Motorhome Rental Platform market size was estimated at USD 670.5 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 7.25% during the forecast period.
