Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on NAF Grade Broad competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations.NAF-grade boards are high-end man-made boards with environmental protection as the core. No formaldehyde-containing adhesives are used in the production process, so the formaldehyde emission is extremely low, far below the national E0 standard and even close to the level of natural wood itself. NAF boards not only have outstanding environmental performance, but also have good physical strength and processing performance. They are suitable for customized furniture, decoration and other application scenarios with extremely high requirements for air quality. They are one of the important directions for the development of green building materials and one of the core competitiveness of enterprises entering the high-standard markets in Europe and the United States.

The global NAF Grade Broad market size was estimated at USD 9492.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 7.80% during the forecast period.
