Abstracts

The peer-to-peer (P2P) accommodation market refers to a decentralized digital ecosystem in which private individuals rent out their residential properties?or portions thereof?to short-term guests through online platforms, bypassing traditional hospitality intermediaries. This model leverages underutilized assets such as spare rooms, vacation homes, or entire apartments, enabling hosts to monetize their space while offering travelers localized, often more affordable lodging alternatives compared to conventional hotels. Key characteristics include dynamic pricing, user-generated reviews, and platform-mediated transactions, with services ranging from basic homestays to luxury rentals. The market is defined by its reliance on trust mechanisms, such as identity verification and rating systems, and is distinguished from traditional lodging by its emphasis on shared economy principles, personalized experiences, and scalability through technology.

The global Peer To Peer Accommodation market size was estimated at USD 85824.0 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 13.50% during the forecast period.
