Abstracts

Pet Food Foundry Service refers to the provision of customized production services from formula development, raw material procurement, production and processing to packaging design by professional factories for brands, covering all categories such as dry food, wet food, freeze-dried food, snacks, etc. OEM factories usually have AAFCO/FEDIAF certification qualifications, which can meet the needs of functional food, special forms or differentiation, help customers achieve asset-light operation and respond quickly to market trends. The current industry is upgrading to flexible production, cross-border compliance and intelligent quality control. China and Southeast Asia are the main production capacity gathering places, and the service objects include start-up brands, cross-border e-commerce and cross-border enterprises. The pet food foundry service industry has a promising future. It is evolving from an early, single OEM model to a more comprehensive ODM model, exhibiting the following trends: First, market-driven consumption upgrades, with the increasing emphasis on emotional companionship for pet owners, are propelling pet food towards functionalization, customization, and premiumization. For example, there is strong demand for niche products such as prescription and hypoallergenic pet foods. Second, technology is empowering industry upgrades, with the widespread application of new processes such as freeze-drying and enzymatic hydrolysis. Meanwhile, intelligent production lines are improving quality control and flexible production efficiency. Third, the competitive landscape is undergoing profound changes. OEM manufacturers are rapidly rising due to their supply chain advantages and are actively transforming from "OEM manufacturing" to "own brands," enhancing their market competitiveness by building their own brands. Furthermore, channel transformation is accelerating, with the booming development of new models such as online e-commerce, social e-commerce, and live-streaming sales, creating more diverse market opportunities for cooperation between OEM service providers and brands. Overall, driven by multiple factors including technological innovation, consumption upgrades, and policy regulation, the pet food OEM service industry will continue to develop towards high-quality development in terms of specialization, scale, and branding.

The global Pet Food Foundry Service market size was estimated at USD 10401.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 8.00% during the forecast period.
