Abstracts

Polished glutinous rice, also known as sticky rice or sweet rice, refers to glutinous rice (Oryza sativa var. glutinosa) that has undergone milling to remove the husk, bran, and germ, resulting in a white, starchy grain with a distinctively chewy and cohesive texture when cooked. Unlike non-glutinous varieties, its starch composition is almost entirely amylopectin, which gives it its characteristic stickiness and makes it particularly suitable for traditional dishes across East and Southeast Asian cuisines, such as mochi, zongzi, and desserts, as well as for use in brewing and industrial applications.

The global Polished Glutinous Rice market size was estimated at USD 178.25 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.50% during the forecast period.
