Abstracts

Port agency service refers to a comprehensive maritime service provided by professional agencies to coordinate port operations and handle administrative and legal affairs during the ship's arrival at the port, ensuring that the ship completes the berthing, loading and unloading, replenishment and departure processes efficiently and in compliance with regulations. The development trend of port agency services is moving towards digitalization, efficiency and integration. With the growth of global trade and the advancement of technology, port agency services not only need to handle traditional ship entry and exit procedures and cargo loading and unloading coordination, but also need to use advanced information technology such as the Internet of Things (IoT), big data analysis and blockchain technology to improve operational efficiency and service quality. Digital platforms make it possible to track cargo status in real time, automate document processing, and seamless supply chain management, thereby reducing human errors and speeding up logistics. At the same time, in order to cope with the increasingly complex international trade environment and environmental protection requirements, port agency services are also shifting towards green logistics and sustainable development, committed to reducing carbon emissions and supporting eco-friendly operating models.

The global Port Agency Service market size was estimated at USD 7933.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.70% during the forecast period.
