Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Preschool Activity Box competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. In 2024, global Preschool Activity Box production reached approximately 126.7 million units, with an average global market price of around US$ 30 per unit. The gross profit margin of major companies in the industry is between 40%?60%. Preschool Activity Boxes are curated collections of educational materials and activities designed for children aged 2?6 years. They typically include hands-on projects, puzzles, art supplies, and learning games that enhance cognitive, motor, and social skills. Delivered monthly or quarterly, these boxes provide a convenient, screen-free way for parents and caregivers to support early childhood development while encouraging creativity and independent learning. Driven by the growing popularity of scientific parenting concepts and the waning popularity of early childhood education institutions, the preschool activity box market continues to see rising demand. Parents favor their cost-effectiveness and adaptability to family settings, making them a valuable tool for parenting. While the market is differentiated through IP collaborations and specialized, age-specific content, the industry remains fragmented and has yet to establish a strong brand identity. Empowered by AIGC technology, intelligent, interactive products are emerging as a new trend, poised to reshape the competitive landscape.

The global Preschool Activity Box market size was estimated at USD 3800.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.80% during the forecast period.
