Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Resmetirole API competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. In 2024, global Resmetirole API sales reached approximately 35,000 kg, with an average global market price of around US$ 79,900/Kg. Resmetirole API is a small-molecule active pharmaceutical ingredient for treating nonalcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH), functioning as a thyroid hormone receptor beta (THR- β) selective agonist to modulate liver lipid metabolism and slow disease progression. The API requires high purity, strict impurity control, and GMP compliance. From a supply chain perspective, upstream relies on fine chemical raw materials, catalysts, and solvent suppliers; midstream involves chemical synthesis, purification, quality testing, and packaging; downstream delivery occurs through pharmaceutical companies for formulation production, requiring regulatory support and supply chain traceability services.

The global Resmetirole API market size was estimated at USD 277.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.70% during the forecast period.
