Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Rolled Feed Barley competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. Rolled Feed Barley is a processed feed made by cleaning and conditioning (adjusting moisture content) barley grains and then pressing them into flakes or flat shapes through roller rolling equipment. This processing method can destroy the seed coat and cell wall structure of barley, making the internal nutrients (such as starch and protein) easier for livestock and poultry to digest and absorb, while improving the palatability and fluidity of the feed. It is one of the commonly used energy feeds in animal husbandry.

The global Rolled Feed Barley market size was estimated at USD 840.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.20% during the forecast period.
