Abstracts

The shisha outsourcing service market refers to specialized third-party providers offering comprehensive hookah setup, maintenance, and staffing solutions for hospitality venues such as restaurants, lounges, nightclubs, and event spaces. These services typically include equipment rental (hookahs, charcoal burners, trays), supply of consumables (flavored tobacco, charcoal, mouthpieces), trained personnel for preparation and servicing, compliance with local smoking regulations, and often menu development or flavor consultation. This outsourcing model allows establishments to offer shisha without significant upfront investment in inventory or specialized staff, shifting operational burdens like cleaning, restocking, and compliance management to experts while generating revenue through shared profit models or fixed service fees. The market caters primarily to businesses seeking to enhance customer experience, expand service offerings, or enter the shisha segment with minimized risk and operational complexity.
