Abstracts

Sports therapeutic kinesiology tape is a type of tape used in sports and physical therapy. It is made of an elastic fiber material that is highly stretchable and breathable, and is able to mimic the elastic properties of the skin. When applied to the skin, sports therapeutic kinesiology tape can lift and support muscles and joints, promote blood and lymphatic circulation, reduce pain and inflammation, and provide additional support to prevent further damage. It is often used in the recovery process of athletes and after injury, and is also widely used in daily life to manage muscle and joint pain. Continuous innovation in kinesiology tape, including enhanced adhesive properties, breathable materials, and new designs (such as pre-cut or bi-elastic tapes), has improved user experience and effectiveness. This innovation attracts both professional athletes and average consumers. The growing number of people participating in sports, recreational activities, and fitness programs has led to a higher demand for products that support injury prevention and recovery. As more individuals engage in physical activities, the need for supportive gear, including kinesiology tape, rises. There is a heightened awareness of the prevalence and risks of sports-related injuries among athletes and the general public. This increased consciousness drives the demand for preventive measures like kinesiology tape to support joints and muscles during physical activity. With an increase in health and fitness awareness, many consumers now buy kinesiology tape for home use, particularly for self-treatment and injury prevention during workouts. The expansion of sports medicine practices and rehabilitation centers has created a greater demand for kinesiology tape. Healthcare professionals utilize tape extensively for injury treatment, recovery support, and rehabilitation protocols, influencing its market growth.

The global Sports Therapeutic Kinesiology Tape market size was estimated at USD 299.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate

(CAGR) of 5.80% during the forecast period.
