Abstracts

Sugar beet pulp pellets (SBPP) are a co-product of the sugar production from sugar beets. The pectin, hemicellulose, and cellulose they contain are highly digestible for ruminants. Compared to cereal-based feed, the long-chain carbohydrates of SBPP are catabolized slowly and continuously, which can help reduce problems with ruminal fermentation and acidosis. Because of their palatability and high energy content, pellets are a popular component in compound feed or direct feed for ruminants, pigs and horses.

The global Sugar Beet Pulp Pellets (SBPP) market size was estimated at USD 426.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 7.60% during the forecast period.
