Report Overview

Sun protecting apparel refers to clothing specially designed to provide protection against the harmful effects of the sun's ultraviolet (UV) rays. These garments are typically made from tightly woven fabrics that offer a high level of UPF (Ultraviolet Protection Factor) to shield the skin from sunburn, premature aging, and skin cancer. Sun protecting apparel includes a wide range of products such as hats, shirts, pants, and swimwear that are specifically designed to block or absorb UV radiation. These garments are becoming increasingly popular among consumers who are becoming more aware of the importance of sun protection for their skin health.

Additionally, changing fashion trends and the growing popularity of outdoor activities are also contributing to the market growth. Manufacturers are responding to these trends by developing innovative sun protecting apparel that not only offers high levels of sun protection but also meets the style and comfort preferences of consumers.
