Report Overview

Tenofovir Disoproxil Fumarate (TDF) is an antiviral medication primarily used for the treatment of HIV-1 infection in combination with other antiretroviral agents. It is a prodrug, meaning it is converted into its active form, Tenofovir, within the body. TDF works by inhibiting the activity of reverse transcriptase, an enzyme essential for the replication of HIV. By blocking this enzyme, it prevents the virus from multiplying and spreading within the body. Additionally, TDF is also used for the prevention of HIV infection in individuals at high risk, such as those who are exposed to the virus through sexual contact or sharing needles. It is available in oral formulations, typically as a tablet, and is taken once daily as part of a comprehensive treatment regimen.
