Abstracts

Ultrasonic dishwashers represent an advanced category of cleaning appliances that utilize high-frequency sound waves, typically within the ultrasonic range (20 kHz to 40 kHz), to create microscopic bubbles in a water and detergent solution through the process of cavitation; these imploding bubbles generate intense localized pressure and turbulence, effectively dislodging dirt, grease, and food residues from dishes, glassware, and cutlery without the need for mechanical scrubbing or high-temperature water cycles, offering a potentially more energy-efficient, quieter, and gentler alternative to conventional spray-arm or jet-based dishwashing systems.

The global Ultrasonic Dishwashers market size was estimated at USD 451.25 million in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.15% during the forecast period.
